INCOME TAX RETURNS DUE ON APRIL 30th

Standard returners who have to make income tax returns, should remember that April 30 is the last date upon which returns may be made without suffering a penalty.

Every year brings changes in the Income Tax Act with the result that comparatively few persons are certain that the computations are correct. What the rate of tax is. This year is no exception to the rule as the government has decided to make a further reduction. A year ago the act was amended to allow all taxpayers to deduct 10 per cent from the amount of tax otherwise payable and this year a further 10 per cent is to be allowed. That is to say, 20 per cent, or one-fifth of the tax calculated to be due according to the rate of tax, should be deducted in making payment. The exemption for a married person is $3600 and the exemption for an unmarried person is $1500. Where there are a husband and wife each have separate incomes in excess of $1500, then the exemption allowable to each is $1500 only. The exemption for dependent children under twenty-one years of age is $500.

The rate of tax is graded and is as follows:

Two per cent, on the first $2000 of net income, or any portion thereof, in excess of exemptions.
 Three per cent, on the next $1000 or any portion thereof.
 Four per cent, on the next $1000 or any portion thereof.
 Five per cent, on the next $1000 or any portion thereof.

And so on in increments at the rate of one per cent, on each additional $1000 until $20,000 is reached.

For example, a married person with one dependent child has an income of $5000, his tax is $244 made up as follows:

Net income ————— $5000.00
 Exemptions ————— $3500.00
 Taxable income ————— $1500.00

Rate of tax 25 on $1500 ——— 375.00
 Deduct 25% (or 15) ——— 56.25
 Tax payable ————— $318.75

Care should be taken to deduct the 25 per cent when making payment. If this is not done it will take more time for the taxpayer to get a refund of this amount as there are several thousands of returns to deal with each year and these have to be classified and filed and examined before adjustments can be made. Further, all payments received are remitted by the district offices to Ottawa and there, refunds can only be obtained through Ottawa office.

Filing and Paying
 Returns of income received must be filed not later than 30th April. The amount due has to be calculated by the taxpayer and remitted with the return. Taxpayers have the option of making payment of one-fourth of the amount due when filing returns and one-fourth every two months thereafter, but interest is charged when payment is made in this way and for this and other reasons it is better to pay the full amount due when filing.

A supply of forms for 1927 has just been issued to every post office. These may be obtained by all persons requiring them. Posters containing information for the use of the public are also being put up in every post office. The responsibility of obtaining forms, filling them in, calculating the amount of tax due and remitting this sum entirely with the tax payer.

Who Should File
 Doubt frequently arises in the minds

SPLENDID MEETING AT STANDARD LAST WEEK

The meeting in the interest of winter roads at Standard Community Hall last week was very interesting and promising.

Mr. A. L. Williams acted as chairman and introduced the main attraction, in Mr. A. B. MacKay, president of the Alberta Automobile Association. Mr. Brown, president of the Calgary Automobile Club; members of the Strathmore Probosc Club, and a number of people from Rosebud and the adjoining district.

Mr. MacKay very clearly emphasized the necessity of keeping the roads clear of snow in the winter season, and maintained that it was foolish to allow a limited quantity of snow to block the traffic for the greater part of the winter season.

He enthusiastically praised the efforts being made by the Strathmore Probosc Club to raise funds to fight the snow problem, and urged the Standard people to do likewise.

The appeal of the Rosebud people that the automobile association should use their influence with the Government to divert the Saskatoon Highway was impossible, as the A. M. A. was a provincial organization, and it would not be wise to take sides upon such questions, but that they could rely upon them using every effort for the betterment of the roads in question.

Mr. Brown, the divergent orator of the Calgary Automobile Club, received great applause at the conclusion of his address, and was also rewarded by having sixteen motorists become members of the Alberta Motor Association.

WAR ON FOREST FIRES

Many a man to whether they are required to file returns. The act provides that all persons liable to taxation (that is those whose income is in excess of the exemption to which they are entitled) must file. But the act also provides that any person whether or not he considers himself liable to tax must file if he is called upon to do so.

Farmers' Returns
 Farmers usually make up their returns on a simple cash basis. That is to say, they report as their gross income amounts actually received by them for the sale of their produce and deduct the operating expenses actually paid by them. They are not required to report as income grain which has been raised and sold during the year; such grain may be reported as income of the following year when it is sold in the same way. Farmers do not deduct from income any operating expenses which they may have incurred and not paid during the year. Such expenses are deductible in the year in which they are actually paid. However, the income tax department is making a special arrangement so far as the year 1927 is concerned; owing to so many farmers having been unable to get their grain threshed last year they will be allowed to estimate the quantity and value of such unthreshed grain and to include this as income of 1927. The reason for this is that if this was not done many farmers would be taxable on their 1927 crop in 1928, as well as on their 1928 crop. In other words, they would be taxable on two years' crops in 1928 and would be able to deduct one year's expenses, viz., those paid in 1928.

EXTRA PAYMENT FOR SUGAR BEET GROWERS

RAYMOND, Alta.—Cheques amounting to over $15,000 have just been distributed among beet growers of Southern Alberta by the Canadian Sugar Factories Limited. This represents an additional payment of 60 cents a ton for 1927 beets, bringing the total amount paid for last year's deliveries up to $7 per ton.

THE MORTGAGE BURIED AT THE MEMORIAL HALL

The world and his wife in the vicinity of Strathmore, including Jim Martin's dog, went out to make a night of it at the "Burial of the Mortgage," the Red Letter Day in the history of the Memorial Hall. It may have been the weather conditions as well as the occasion that made the assembly of over three hundred so determined to enjoy themselves. They went out for a good time, and from all accounts, they had it.

Mrs. Hilde and Miss Agnes Barry, supported by Messrs. Bendie Piesner, J. Gannon and E. Gilgus, made their first public appearance as a combination, and for snappy steps they can't beat. There is no need to say that the ceremony for what the shills call "hot stuff." If the dreamy waltz as desired they are right there to supply the goods. Come early and avoid disappointment.

The ceremony for which this day was set was most fitting. The President of the Canadian Legion, Comrade S. H. Crowther, gave a short address, outlining what had been accomplished.

A surprise, in which more than a welcome note was struck, was the appreciation voiced by Comrade L. Col. J. G. Wright, of Timmins Branch. The "Colonel" made his remarks on the jump, as it were, only having a few minutes notice, but he reached his point so quickly, had such a pleasing manner and fine appeal, that we intend to make the opportunity possible when he will give an address "all set," and if the little we heard is a sample, there is a treat in store for us thereon.

After the gathering had been filled plumb full by the ladies of the Golf Club by a supper served in great style, quality and quantity.

The excitement was intense as to who would be the lucky winner of the chest of silver, a product of Comrade P. Crowther's work. Comrade A. V. McFarland had the honor of opening the chest, an office he fills better than being it. He had justly earned it for the amount of work he had successfully endured. But he has his regrets. It was common knowledge that Comrade J. S. Gunn held the palm for longest selling. Met and was boozing or boozing palm—well, something of that nature in the army, having enlisted in the same outfit. Now Mac has beaten Jimmie at his own game, and they take opposite sides of the street, and it looks as if the burg is too small to hold them. Question—Who will be the greater loser?

and the appreciation the Legion felt in untiring support they had received from the community. He gave credit to those who had given time and work to the beautifying of the Hall, both interior and exterior, and expressed the great pleasure of all in having Comrade L. French, whose inspiring leadership and untiring efforts had made the erection of the Hall the success it had been. Comrade L. French was President when the Hall was commenced, and he has occupied the same position at its completion. It would be hard to express the feelings of many who witnessed him set fire to the document that burned so brightly. This action called for three hearty cheers and a rousing chorus of "Hail to Jerry Old Follow," sung justly by all. It may be only a rumor but our worthy Mayor, Comrade A. D. Shrimpton, who held the silver (in place) to receive the remains, is said to have expressed his intention of providing a silver urn to deposit the ashes in.

A surprise, in which more than a welcome note was struck, was the appreciation voiced by Comrade L. Col. J. G. Wright, of Timmins Branch. The "Colonel" made his remarks on the jump, as it were, only having a few minutes notice, but he reached his point so quickly, had such a pleasing manner and fine appeal, that we intend to make the opportunity possible when he will give an address "all set," and if the little we heard is a sample, there is a treat in store for us thereon.

The success of this evening is so pleasing that it should make every one to make the anniversary an annual affair. The welcoming of the Hall just added the finishing touch to the completion. Messrs. G. H. Patrick, who feels like putting a finishing touch on his comrades Bill and Bob, who should make a good team, they left on the floor. Billy remarks are not fit for print, and we all know Percy's nickname.
 Mrs. D. French's touch was noted in the cut flowers that decked the pillars, while society notes record that Miss E. W. E. Whitehead, supported by Miss Joe Van Tighen, in customary costume, poised, and Miss A. D. Perry cutting cake. It is also noted that Tony Van West couldn't dance for talking stamper.
 Hector was quite right in saying "a free dance is a Scotchman's picture". There are many ways of paying for dance than handing cash at the wicket. This secret will not be disclosed.

DEVILISH GAME OF GOLF

The following interesting letter written to the Edmonton Sun is published with the hope that Ernie Whiteside, Fred Dunn, R. S. Stockton, Jos. Van Tighem and others may give the matter serious consideration.

"It seems to me the time has come when the right-thinking must give attention to the pernicious effects of the growing hold which golf is gaining upon the people. Thousands of our people are now golf addicts, and their number is growing every year.

Think of the misery this wicked game is causing. Men neglect their wives and children and their business and waste their time and substance on its insidious chara.

The golf instructors are growing rich by their wicked trade of giving lessons at the expense of their unfortunate victims, and swollen fortunes of the manufacturers of the devilish golf devices increase and multiply.

Even the womanhood of the country is becoming addicted to golf, and public and private courses alike have an unhealthy influence on the minds of both young and old and is a growing cause of the deterioration of the Sabbath. Men do and say things under the influence of the demon golf they would never do otherwise.

Golf makes lars of some men and causes poverty and loss of self-control. I thank the Lord that golf has never obtained a hold on me. I can play at it or let it alone.

While I am a moderate golfer, I am willing to forego the game for ever for the great good its prohibition would accomplish.

I urge that steps be taken immediately to prohibit the playing of golf on Sunday and that we organize at once with the object of adding an amendment to the Constitution to prohibit all golf except for medicinal purposes after June 30, 1928."

MEL COWIE

New York last year received completely good pitching from its veterans. In addition, Wiley Moore working his first year, proved to be the greatest relief pitcher in the majors, while George Piggas, after several years of experimenting, finally arrived.

One of these days the Yankees' veteran staff will collapse and the team will work under a tremendous handicap, unless the ever-resourceful Hugins has satisfactory replacements. Royal managers are patiently awaiting a collapse of said staff.

Outstanding as sluggers extraordinary, it is hard to see how Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig can unlock more power at the bat than they did last year. Their hectic struggle for home-run honors will live for years as baseball drama.

New York is unquestionably the one

"STOP YANKES" IS CRY IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

NEW YORK—Stop those Yankees—that is the pet slogan of every American league club.

Drop around, ask the manager in charge of any team what he thinks of the American league race and the cry of every reply will be along these lines:

If they can stop the Yankees, the pennant should be an interesting affair.

But can the seven other clubs in the American league stop the Yankees? That remains to be seen. Certainly no one will have the temerity to dispute the assertion that New York should repeat.

On form, the Yanks are a hot favor. It is again with the American league pennant. It is unquestionably the best balanced club in the organization. It has real class. The Yanks should win again, but not by nearly so great a margin as last season.

New York Yanks Are Due

There are four reasons why New York shouldn't make such a runaway race as in 1927. The first deals merely with the law of averages. The second has to do with the pitching staff. The third centres around the two kingpin sluggers of baseball, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig. The fourth concerns the schedule.

Last season, New York won something like 50 games from three clubs: St. Louis, Boston and Cleveland. Of these victories, 21 were scored in 22 starts against the St. Louis Browns. The rest were about equally divided between Cleveland and Boston. Here is where the law of averages comes in.

It isn't in the books for New York to again beat St. Louis 21 games out of 22. Incidentally, all the victories scored over the Browns were successful wins. It is a rarity for any major league club to be such easy picking. Likewise, Cleveland and Boston will present far more formidable opposition. That takes care of the law of averages angle.

Veterans Came Through

New York last year received completely good pitching from its veterans. In addition, Wiley Moore working his first year, proved to be the greatest relief pitcher in the majors, while George Piggas, after several years of experimenting, finally arrived.

One of these days the Yankees' veteran staff will collapse and the team will work under a tremendous handicap, unless the ever-resourceful Hugins has satisfactory replacements. Royal managers are patiently awaiting a collapse of said staff.

best bet of the year in the majors, but take it from me the opposition is going to be far stronger and the Yanks won't win by as much as they did last year.

WELL SURROUNDED DURING HER OLD AGE

TORONTO—Packers should not worry about a diminishing log supply as long as there are oars around the one reported by E. P. Wetherill.

Clarkston. On the H. H. Fudge farm, of which Mr. Wetherill is manager, this animal gave birth to her 12th little pig. This litter numbered 23, and was the seventh in the last three years, the mother being about 4 years old and in fine shape.

Wonderful Record

Her first litter, which arrived a little better than three years ago, contained 12, according to Mr. Wetherill, and was followed at frequent intervals by 15, 11, 19, 22, 17 and 22. After such a strenuous life one might think that this noble beast was not what she once was, but Mr. Wetherill assured The Globe that she is a show animal will, gentle, fat and with a pedigree behind her. Of course she has not raised all her numerous offspring, but she has averaged between twelve and fourteen each litter.

Looks for Higher Prices

Mr. Wetherill, like many other farmers, now looks for better hog prices next fall. "We are not making any money out of them just now," he said, "but prices will be better soon, or a lot of people, buying hogs just now will be disappointed."

'FLIVVER' PLANE DESIGNER TELLS PROMOTION PLAN

NEW YORK—"Flivver" airplanes as simple to operate as automobiles or motorcycles and capable of flying at a rate of between 60 and 90 miles, will be on the American market this summer, it was announced by Hans Klemm, president of the Klemm Light Airplane Company, Limited, of Stuttgart, who has just arrived here on the Dresden, of the German Lloyd Line.

Plans for importing the small airplane from Germany until an American factory can be built will be completed as soon as Mr. Klemm has an opportunity of talking over the details with his two American partners, he said. Within a few months, he added, a plant will be in operation manufacturing the airplanes in this country for the local market.

The "flivver" airplanes were perfected by Mr. Klemm, who is a consulting engineer. They have a wing spread of 41 feet and fuselage 20 feet long. The wings can be readily dismantled and the airplane rolled on its wheels into a small basket the size of a garage. Their engines consume about one gallon of gasoline for 50 miles of flying. It is said that the airplanes can land on a field 10 feet long.

SCHOOL FAIR

The seeds have now been received and distributed to the respective schools. Plant-mounting cards and School Fair Bulletin are also to hand and may be had from the Secretary, Mr. D. Mackay, or by calling at the Strathmore High School, Frize Lane, now being printed, and will be ready for distribution in a few days. The Fair will be held on Thursday, September 13th.

The sincere thanks of the School Fair Executive are tendered to the Strathmore Chapter, I.O.D.F., for its great kindness in holding a tea for Saturday in aid of the Fair. We notice that the Kenna District is staging a two-day Fair this year. How about a two-day Fair for Strathmore in 1929?

The following is a complete list of the special prizes and donations. These are gratefully acknowledged. Thanks are also due to the Strathmore Chapter for canvassing the town and to Miss Strang, Miss Polk and Miss Melton for obtaining prizes from outside sources.

ROBSON LOSES TITLE AS HIGHEST OF PEAKS

OTTAWA—Excluding the mountains of the Yukon Territory, the monarch of Canadian peaks has been believed to be Mount Robson, in the Rocky Mountains, British Columbia, north of the Yellowhead Pass. Its height is 12,572 feet. Word has just been received in Ottawa from Victoria, British Columbia, that a higher peak has been discovered in the Coast Range. It is estimated to be 12,560 feet in elevation. In the same neighborhood are two peaks, 12,500 feet in height and several others 11,000 feet in height. The new mountain will bear the name Mount Woddington, after Alfred Woddington, a British Columbia pioneer, who did exploratory work in the region in the 1860's in connection with his advocacy of road and rail communication from the head of the Pacific to Cariboo and across the continent to Eastern Canada.

CANADIAN ROCKIES NAMED FOR DOMINION PREMIERS

MONTREAL—Fitting monuments to four former premiers of Canada, and a monument to the visit of the Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, have been set aside in the Rocky Mountains of Canada where a series of peaks have been officially named the Premier Group. Five of these peaks have been named respectively, Mt. Stanley Baldwin, Mt. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mt. Sir John Thompson, Mt. Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Mt. Sir John Abbott. The naming of a mountain after Premier Baldwin in commemoration of his visit to Canada during the Diamond Jubilee year of confederation is considered a fitting mark of the Dominion's esteem for him. These mountains lie within the territory skirted by the "Triangle Tour" of the Canadian National Railways and to the west of Mt. Robson, highest peak in the Canadian Rockies. The peak several of which are snow-capped, lie about ten miles south of the line to Prince Rupert and an equal distance west of the Canadian National Vancouver line. They can be seen by tourists on either road.

The patient, Mrs. I. S. Wells, wife of a Chicago merchant, described briefly her impressions of "being dead".
"It was a feeling like rising through the air. I seemed to see marble steps. Then I fell upon my head. Next, I heard a nurse say, 'are you back, Mrs. Wells?'"

SOLDIER SON AND FATHER REUNITED

LONDON—Mourning was deep for 12 years, William John Dewsbury, aged 48, an ex-serviceman, made a dramatic return by walking into his aged father's home at Brighton.

In 1915 the War Office reported to the father, Sergeant-Major F. W. Dewsbury, former Lieutenant, and a one-time member of the guard of honor of King Edward VII, that his son was missing. Hearing that the boy had been killed in the retreat from Mons, the father rejoined the Army, although 51 years of age, and went out to France. Months and years went by, and as no news came the old man concluded that his boy was dead. Then there came a knock. Mr. Dewsbury got out of bed and opened the door.

With a cheery "Hello, dad, don't be frightened, it's Will," his long-lost son strode into the passage.

For some moments Mr. Dewsbury was dumfounded. At last he gasped "But I thought you were dead, too," replied the son.

Explainers

A joyous occasion followed, and father and son sat explaining to each other how the strange misunderstanding had occurred until light broke through the curtains. Later in the day they were found chatting happily together of old days, and between them they told their remarkable story.

"Before the war I was employed by the Anglo-Persian Oil Co. in South Persia," the son said.

"At the outbreak of the war I was attached as interpreter and engineer to the expedition under General Goring, which was going to relieve Tobruk after a baffling from 40 foot waves which broke three windows on the promenade deck.

certain death at the hands of the Arabs to have been left behind.

"So I was ordered to leave the tractor and pontoon and proceed with the main column. Presumably the abandoned tractor and pontoon were found, and the War Office presumed that I had been either killed or captured, and reported me missing.

"Following the relief of Kut in 1915, I was released from the Army, and returned to the Anglo-Persian Oil Co. in Persia.

All this time I had been writing home, but, receiving no reply, I came to the conclusion that my father was dead.

"I returned home, in 1920, but could find no trace of any of my family. An old friend told me that my father had rejoined the Army and been killed in France. I returned to Persia in November of the same year. Last week, arriving in London on a holiday, I happened to call at the London offices of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company and heard a rumor that my father was still alive and living at Brighton.

"I returned to the town to search for him. I spent hours making inquiries and knocking at doors. Just after midnight I met a policeman who knew my father, and he led me to his doorstep."

SAVES RADIO WAVES UPSETTING WEATHER

NEW YORK—Radio waves are increasing the violence of storms at sea, and sea, declared Captain W. H. Parker, of the White Star liner Homeric, which arrived 24 hours late Thursday after a buffeting from 40 foot waves which broke three windows on the promenade deck. The atmosphere of the world, he contended, has been so disturbed and upset by wireless electrical waves that clouds have been precipitated as rain with resulting strong winds. He declared there was no precedent for the continuous storms on the ocean, the waves in Egypt and the cold along the Riviera.

Tractor Satisfaction

Owners of McCormick Deering Tractors are enthusiastic over the way their tractors meet every requirement for power on hill and drawbar. They like the ease with which these tractors measure up to the demand on every occasion.

Constant speed under varying loads is the result of proper construction—the right relationship and balance between the working parts. The governors function with an amazing accuracy, supplying just the right amount of fuel to pull the load. There is no waste of fuel—no racing—no lagging of the engine.

POWERFUL ENGINE. These tractors have valve-in-head, heavy duty engines. They are built to deliver an abundance of power over a long period of years. Working parts are thoroughly protected from dust and dirt.

REMOVABLE CYLINDERS. Each cylinder is cast separately and fitted into the engine block, which makes it possible to replace a worn cylinder quickly, easily and economically. New cylinders make practically a new engine.

ONE-PIECE MAIN FRAME. The main frame is a single casting. There are no weak joints bolted together. It is dust-proof and oil-tight.

HIGH GRADE BEARINGS. An unusually large number of ball and roller bearings are used which are easily lubricated, reduce friction, and save power for productive work.

ACCESSIBILITY. Engine working parts are readily accessible by removing handhole covers and plates.

CLUTCH. The multiple-plate, dry-disc clutch is large and insures proper transmission of the power.

L.H.C. SERVICE. International Harvester service covers the country, and it is easy to get extra parts or assistance, whenever necessary.

PREMIER KING BELIEVES IN ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT

OTTAWA—Characterizing the St. Lawrence development project as one of the biggest with which Canada ever will be faced, Premier King indicated to the House of Commons his sympathy with the project, and expressed the view that it was an undertaking bound to be carried out at some time in the course of North American development.

It was the first intimation Parliament has had of the Premier's personal attitude with respect to the enterprising proposals to open up half a continent to ocean commerce. The House listened in rapt attention as he delicately announced the agreement between the United States and Canada for simultaneous release last Monday night of international news correspondence, and declared that the documents then tabled included

International Joint Board of Engineers' data, the Supreme Court power reference questions, Orders-in-Council, and everything calculated to be of interest and service in debate and discussion.

Scotsman (as he treads on tack):
"I wish you wouldn't be so careless in throwing tack about, Mary."
His wife (placidity): "Honey, you are getting madder every day. I can buy a whole package of tacks for a nickel."

From schoolboys' science papers:
The earth makes a revolution every twenty-four hours.

The difference between air and water is that air can be made wetter and water cannot.

"We are now the masters of steam and electricity."

Things that are equal to each other are equal to anything else.

Gravity is chiefly noticeable in the autumn, when the apples are falling from the trees.

The axis of the earth is an imaginary line on which the earth turns its daily rotation.

A parallel straight line is one which, if produced to meet itself does not meet.

Electricity and lightning are of the same nature, the only difference being that lightning is often several miles long, while electricity is only a few inches.

The Judge said to an officer on a horse:

"Officer, what is this here prisoner charged with?"

"Bribery, your honor," said the officer.

"He's got three wives."

The Judge gave a sneering laugh.

"Officer," he said, "what's the use of night school, business college, correspondence training and education in general? Please remember, in future cases of this kind that a man that has married three wives ain't guilty of bribery, but trigonometry."

"The fact witness."

"Daddy is today tomorrow" asked little Evangeline.

"No, my daughter, of course today isn't tomorrow," answered Jim Moran.

"But you said it was," objected the girl.

"When did I ever say that today was tomorrow?"

"Yesterday."

"Well, it was. Today was tomorrow yesterday, but today is today, just as yesterday was today yesterday, but is yesterday today."

"And tomorrow will be today tomorrow, which makes today, yesterday and tomorrow all at once. Now run along and play."

Frank Seales: "Would you mind changing your mouth?"

Customer: "No. Would you?"

Honestly Client: "I want you to take my photograph from the window at once."

state of "armed neutrality."

"Now, what the — is 'armed neutrality,'" asks Jim Swanson.

Isaac Rosen stepped into the corner grocery store.

"I want some pepper," said he to the lady clerk.

"What kind do you prefer, black or light colored pepper?" she replied.

"I don't want either kind. I want tissue paper."

"Here's that."

The Lad: "But it only costs me a quarter."

"Here's that."

"Did give me the extra dime."

Announcer: "Mr. Blank, the famous after-dinner speaker, will now address us."

Flustered Speaker: "I am indeed—ah—proud to speak upon the happy, smiling microphones this evening—er—I mean I am glad to see so many wave lengths here this evening."

She: "Gene, what do you have to do when you want to draw some money out of a bank?"

Gene: "You have to put some money in the bank beforehand. That's as easy as my experience. Ask D. M. Lunde if there is any other plan."

"My dear, it's no use you looking at those hats. I haven't more than a dollar in my pocket."

"You idiot, you might have known when we came out that I'd want to buy a few things."

"I did."

Dad: "I see by this school report that your marks in deportment are very low."

Vincent: "Yes, I guess it's 'cause I don't have any home work in it."

"The editor said that I must put more fire into my verses."

"Cheer up. He might have said put more verses into the fire."

Mother: "Darling, you were awfully late last night. I'm afraid I'm dreadfully old-fashioned, but I should like to know where you go."

Daughter: "Certainly, Mummy darling. I dined with—oh, well, you don't know him—and we went to several places. I don't suppose you've been to, and we finished at a queer little club."

"I forgot its name, but it's in a cellar somewhere in Calgary. It's all right, isn't it, Mummy?"

Mother: "Of course, darling. It's only that I just like to know."

In the early days of the world war the officers in charge of a British post died in the heart of Africa, receiving a wireless message from his chief:

"We declared. Arrest all enemy aliens in your district."

A few days later the chief received this communication:

Have arrested seven Germans, three Belgians, four Spaniards, five Frenchmen, a Scotchman, an American of Swedish origin and a Canadian.

Please inform me whom we are at war with."

CANADA'S FOREST WEEK MEANS VERY MUCH

Canada's forests are going fast. Yet how many people in this country betray any concern?

As long as Canadians pay no attention to forest facts, the mischief will go on.

Sixty per cent. of Canada's original forest wealth has been destroyed by fire!

Thirteen per cent. has been cut by axe and saw!

Twenty-seven per cent. is left as the capital to supply an increasing and an insatiable demand for lumber and paper and other products!

Twenty-seven per cent. is left as the forest we have reduced our capital to 27% of the original. And what have we to show for it? We have some cleared agricultural land which once was forest, but this in the case of the best farming regions at least, was chiefly hardwood forest. Our cut-over coniferous forest area is largely rough, sandy, rocky land of little use except where minerals may have been deposited.

Canadians should think over these things. "Canadian Forest Week" is an effort to have them do so. It means much to the future of this country.

Volunteer the remainder of our forest capital can be protected and wisely used, in twenty-five years, at the present rate of destruction by fire and axe, we will have used up all our available timber.

Forestry experts claim that if fire can be kept out, Canada's forest growth each year will provide all the timber and pulp wood required. The chief problem, however, is not how to fight fire, but how to prevent it.

Every man, woman and child who goes into the woods should know the danger and feel the responsibility.

Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, is doing a national work in organizing the fight against forest fires. The people of Canada could do infinitely more, however, by exercising care to prevent them.

The value of the 1927 production was $60,000 as compared to $36,500 in 1926.

Honey producers received 20 cents a pound in 1927 as against 17 cents in 1926. This is greatly in excess of the amount received by eastern manufacturers, where 10 cents is considered high.

The number of colonies of "bees" increased from 2,560 in 1926 to 3,450 in 1927, while the value of the bees increased from $48,093 in 1926 to $81,365 in 1927.

Production per colony or hive during 1927 was 90 pounds, against $4 in 1926.

The main centres of production were Edmonton, Fort Saskatchewan, Beaver Lodge, Lethbridge and Coaldale.

Entrusted and crystallized products were the more important.

During 1927 Alberta honey producers won first prize in clear extracted honey and first prize, in crystallized, at the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto.

With the increase registered in 1927 Alberta is now self-sufficing in honey and if the industry continues to develop at the same rate there soon will be large quantities available for export.

W. A. Wilson, Canadian Agricultural Products representative at London, has asked the provincial government to sample the local products for display at the London office, as many inquiries have been received.

BEE-KEEPERS REAPED RICH CASH HARVEST

EDMONTON—Honey production in Alberta during 1927 totaled 300,000 pounds, according to statistics compiled under the direction of Hon. George Hoadley, minister of agriculture. This is an increase of 85,000 pounds over 1926, when production totalled 215,000.

The value of the 1927 production was $60,000 as compared to $36,500 in 1926.

MIGRATION FROM THE TOWNS

The Fergus News-Record, which has the knack of picking up interesting subjects for discussion, has been studying the question of migration from the towns, with special reference, naturally, to Fergus, and wondering why people thus move away from home. It is a big question, and in The News-Record can solve it in its way to start the movement back it will do a service of far-reaching importance. By way of illustration it points out that of fifty-three pupils in the first and second forms of the high school some years ago only seven are now living in the immediate neighborhood, and only five in the municipality. Eight cannot be traced, and of the forty-two others twelve are living in Toronto, two are married women living in the United States, two are in Europe, and three in the West. One is buried in France. The percentage, coming to Toronto, it submits, is too large, and this is the crux of the complaint. The large cities are draining the towns of their young men and women.

The News-Record is right in stating that the town papers must seek a way to stop this exodus, but not because the papers like those in Toronto are self-interest interested in pulling in the young folk from everywhere. Growth of Toronto at the expense of the rest of the Province would be a decidedly unhealthy condition. The fact that many of the young men and women come here cannot be denied, and if they did not they would go to some other large centre. This is the situation which confronts the smaller town, but it is one which the town must challenge—if, indeed, a change can be made.

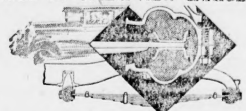

The decline of the rural school shows how the country population is falling off, and this is attributed, in part at least, to the development of labor-saving machinery and to the attractions of city life. Thus the flow of people upon whom the town depends largely for sustenance is away from the community. The town, moreover, has competition from the large mail order house, and an avenue of employment becomes smaller. Non-employment states that more jobs are available in Fergus now than twenty years ago, and it believes that those who remain behind are as prosperous as those who left. This is probably true. But there remains the glamour of the larger place, the greater opportunity for selecting employment and the more numerous club offices at the top. In the long run, the average person may do no better than if he had stayed at home, but he doesn't know that when he starts out. Certainly he is no happier, and is not likely to live longer. The country as a whole would be better off if the population were more evenly distributed; if the larger centres did not become overcrowding in size, and the smaller ones made steady and substantial gains.

But how is the town to offset the attractions of the cities? It must canvass its possibilities as a manufacturing centre, for there are industries which do not require locations in big cities. They go where raw materials and power are available, where labor of the right sort can be found, and where there are suitable shipping facilities. Labor is an important factor, and it is not often possible for an industry to move and take its employees with it. Non-employment, which has been tried to establish themselves in small centres with native labor, have been obliged to give up for lack of the right kind of "one water throughout. But how is the town to offset the attractions of the cities? It must canvass its possibilities as a manufacturing centre, for there are industries which do not require locations in big cities. They go where raw materials and power are available, where labor of the right sort can be found, and where there are suitable shipping facilities. Labor is an important factor, and it is not often possible for an industry to move and take its employees with it. shouldered. There is little danger of repetition of those errors, though some of the projects now mooted will have to be examined closely, so that premature railway building is not again made the economic sin of the Dominion.

Efforts are being made to secure these pioneering lines from their debt of deficit, and in this respect some progress has been made. Such a line as the Pacific Great Eastern, in the Province of British Columbia, is handicapped by lack of proper terminals, and a proposal is now made for expropriation. During the bounding years between 1900 and 1914, when upward of one thousand miles were added yearly to the operating systems, thousands of men were employed in construction work. Many of these were new arrivals in Canada, who found their first work and earned their first money in railway camps. They were well paid, and when they left the railways they had money in hand to establish themselves on farms or in other vocations and were continuously producing citizens.

Canada does not wish for any new great nations to be founded on a basis; but in view of the growing production and wealth of the Dominion there is reason to expect steady railway extension, and with it a call for new settlers, and following that the more intensive occupation of the new lands of the North and West.

THE SAYINGS AND DOINGS OF MANY PUBLIC MEN

In presenting the Massachusetts State Budget for the year it was estimated that the state debt had been reduced in ten years from $10,435,000 chiefly because of a pay-as-you-go policy and of inheritance taxes. The fact that the latter totalled $10,740,000 in one year makes astonishing to put it mildly, the argument to abolish this tax as a source of revenue scarcely worth bothering with.

David Lloyd George: "When two great nations set their minds and hearts on measuring their fighting strength against each other in terms of guns and torpedoes, the whole of their relationship is vitiated by this unwholesome rivalry."

Sir William Mulock, the veteran chief justice of Ontario, has made an outstanding success of planting trees. Years ago he started to plant black walnut trees on his farm near Toronto, and he has now three groves,

Robert Lynd: "If ever a statesman made more interesting a way, he will win a place in history above Pericles as the most practical man who has yet appeared in the political history of the world."
